

Celebrate World Food Day

Zero Food Waste Forum Webinar • Friday, October 16th • 12 to 1:30 pm

We are taking the Zero Food Waste Forum virtual!

The 1st Zero Food Waste Forum was held on October 16, 2014 (World Food Day) to recognize the unacceptable hunger that still exists around the world despite the large amount of good food that goes to waste. Known as the “Woodstock of Wasted Food” the forum featured international experts and models from across the U.S., Canada, and Europe.

The 2nd Zero Food Waste Forum was held on October 16, 2018 to help local jurisdictions understand the direction and intentions of Senate Bill 1383 (2016), which requires that no less than 20 percent of edible food currently disposed of in California is recovered for human consumption by 2025.

Now communities across region are accessing their needs and developing new programs for wasted food reduction and surplus food recovery.

As we bring the Zero Food Waste Forum online, our goal is to collaborate across the region and support each other as we meet the goals of Senate Bill 1383 and create more healthy and sustainable communities.

Our first quarterly session will feature:

- Food Bank SB 1383 Compliance Support - Becky Gershon, Senior Policy Advocate, California Association of Food Banks
- Countywide Edible Food Recovery - Jack Johnson, Senior Sustainability Specialist, County of San Mateo
- Hub Kitchen Program - Grace Liao, Food Recovery Manager, Berkeley Food Network

Zero Food Waste Forum Webinar
Friday, October 16th • 12 to 1:30 pm

Free registration:

<https://zero-food-waste-forum-webinar.eventbrite.com>

Sponsored by

NCRA Zero Food
Waste Committee

CRRA Edible Food
Recovery Technical
Council